Discussion of the Issues

Comment 1: Whether Jiedong Lehouse Furniture Co., Ltd (“Jiedong Lehouse”) has Demonstrated Eligibility for Separate Rate Status

Petitioners

• Consistent with the Department’s practice to deny separate rate status to mandatory respondents which fail to respond to all parts of the questionnaire, in the Initiation Notice, the Department stated that mandatory respondents must respond to all parts of the questionnaire in order to be eligible for a separate rate.

• The Department selected Jiedong Lehouse as a mandatory respondent in the AR; however, despite submitting a separate rate application, Jiedong Lehouse failed to completely respond to any section of the Department’s questionnaire, refused to submit complete financial statements as required by section A of the questionnaire, failed to submit reconciliations for its U.S. sales and factors of production databases as required by sections C and D of the questionnaire, respectively, and ultimately withdrew from the review. Therefore, the Department should continue to deny Jiedong Lehouse a separate rate for these final results.

19 Excluded shoe cabinets are 31.5-33.5 inches wide by 15.5-17.5 inches deep by 34.5-36.5 inches high. They are designed strictly to store shoes, which are intended to be aligned in rows perpendicular to the wall along which the cabinet is positioned. Shoe cabinets do not have drawers, rods, or other indicia for the storage of clothing other than shoes. The cabinets are not designed, manufactured, or offered for sale in coordinated groups or sets and are made substantially of wood, have two to four shelves inside them, and are covered by doors. The doors often have blinds that are designed to allow air circulation and release of bad odors. The doors themselves may be made of wood or glass. The depth of the shelves does not exceed 14 inches. Each shoe cabinet has doors, adjustable shelving, and ventilation holes. See Wooden Bedroom Furniture From the People’s Republic of China: Final Results of Changed Circumstances Review, and Revocation of Antidumping Duty Order, in Part, 80 FR 18383 (April 6, 2015).

Jiedong Lehouse did not comment on this issue.

Department’s Position:

We agree with Petitioners. In proceedings involving non-market economy (“NME”) countries, the Department maintains a rebuttable presumption that all companies within the country are subject to government control and, thus, should be assigned a single dumping rate. It is the Department’s policy to assign all exporters of subject merchandise in an NME country this single rate unless an exporter can demonstrate that it is sufficiently independent so as to be entitled to a separate rate. Furthermore, the Department has instituted a practice whereby exporters and producers which submit a separate rate application or separate rate certification which are subsequently selected as mandatory respondents, are no longer eligible for separate-rate status unless they respond to all parts of the questionnaire as mandatory respondents. During the course of this review, Jiedong Lehouse submitted a separate rate application, and was subsequently selected as a mandatory respondent. However, Jiedong Lehouse never fully responded to the questionnaire, despite being provided multiple opportunities to provide the required information through supplemental questionnaires. Thus the record is incomplete with respect to Jiedong Lehouse. Without a complete record, the Department was not able to conduct a full analysis of Jiedong Lehouse’s sales and production activities, including determining whether it had considered all necessary information in deciding whether to grant Jiedong Lehouse a separate rate.

Mandatory respondents may not dictate their level of participation for the purposes of determining a more favorable separate rate based on another party’s data. After providing separate rate information, a mandatory respondent could cease participating in a proceeding by not providing a full response to the antidumping questionnaire, believing that its own data may result in a higher antidumping duty margin than if it simply participated as a separate-rate respondent.

Moreover, Jiedong Lehouse’s failure to respond to all parts of the questionnaire prevented the Department from conducting a comprehensive analysis of its activities during the POR. Thus, because the Department was unable to analyze Jiedong Lehouse’s activities during the POR, we consider the information that was provided by Jiedong Lehouse, including its separate rate information, to be unreliable, and we cannot determine Jiedong Lehouse’s eligibility for separate rate status. Therefore, we continue to find that Jiedong Lehouse has not demonstrated its eligibility for separate rate status.

separate rate eligibility for separate rate status, and as a result, the Department is treating Jiedong Lehouse as part of the PRC-wide entity.\textsuperscript{25}
