Part 4

Determination of Provisional Safeguard Measures

Section 22 Where the Department of Foreign Trade has considered the preliminary information and found that the increased import has caused injury to the domestic industry or that the injury is imminent to such an extent that any delay would cause damage which would be difficult to repair, the Department shall submit the case to the Committee for determination on provisional safeguard measures.

Section 23 If the Committee deems it is necessary to impose provisional safeguard measures, the Committee shall issue a notification imposing provisional tariff rates as the Committee deems appropriate.

The provisional tariff to be imposed pursuant to the first paragraph shall be considered as an additional import tariff to the regular tariff stipulated by the tariff schedules or by the notifications issued by virtue of the existing tariff laws at the time of such import. - (1) Collection of import tariffs at the determined rates,
- (2) Quantitative import restrictions, or
- (3) Any measure other than (1) and (2) that shall, in effect, reduce or restrict the volume of imported products in order to allow the producers of the like products or the domestic industry the opportunity to implement the adjustment plans as deemed appropriate by the Committee.

Section 27 Under the provisions of Chapter 7, the imposed safeguard measures shall be enforced on the increased import regardless of its source. Such safeguard measures shall apply as necessary to prevent or remedy the injuries in order to allow the producers of the like products or the domestic industry the adjustment period.

Section 28 When import tariffs is imposed, such tariffs shall be considered additional to the tariffs collected under the current customs tariff rate or under the notification on tariff rates issued by the existing customs tariff laws at the time of the import. The provisions of the customs and customs tariff laws shall be similarly applied to the imposed tariffs as the normal import tariffs.

Section 29 When a quantitative import restriction is imposed, such a measure shall not reduce the quantity of the imports below the level of a recent period, unless clear justification is given that such level is necessary to prevent or remedy the injury.

Determination of the import quantitative level pursuant to the first paragraph shall be in accordance with the criteria and procedures notified by the Ministry of Commerce.

Section 30 When import quota is imposed, the Committee may assign the Department of Foreign Trade to negotiate the allocation of shares in the quota with major exporting countries.

In cases in which no agreement regarding quota allocation pursuant to the first paragraph can be reached, shares in the quota shall be allotted to exporting countries based upon the proportions of the total quantity or values of imports of the product imported during a previous representative period. Due account shall be taken of any special factors which may be affecting the trade in the product.

During the application of any safeguard measures pursuant to the first paragraph, no such products shall be imported unless an import certificate issued by the Department of Foreign Trade can be produced to the customs officials.

The import certificate pursuant to the third paragraph shall comply with the format specified by the Department of Foreign Trade.

Section 31 In cases where the injury to the domestic industry and the quantity of imports from certain countries has increased disproportionately in relation to the total increase of imports of the product concerned, the Committee may impose any criteria for import quota allocation as deems appropriate without regards to the criteria under Section 30. Nevertheless, prior consultation with major exporting countries must be sought under the auspices of the WTO's Committee on Safeguards to whom a clear demonstration that imports from certain countries have increased in disproportionate level to the total increase of imports of the product concerned, the justified reasons for a departure from the provision in Section 30, and the assigned quota allocations in such cases are equitable to all exporters.

The duration of the import quota allocation pursuant to the first paragraph shall not exceed four years.

Section 32 Safeguard measures shall not be applied against a product originating in a developing country if its share of imports does not exceed three per cent (3%) of total imports of the product concerned, provided that the developing countries with less than three per cent (3%) import share collectively account for not more than nine per cent (9%) of total imports of the product concerned.

Chapter 4

Duration and Review of Safeguard Measures

Section 33 Subject to the second paragraph of Section 31 and Section 36, the imposed safeguard measures shall be applied only for such period of time as may be necessary that shall not exceed four years from the date of application.

Section 34 In a case where the expected duration of a safeguard measure is over one year, the safeguard measure shall be progressively liberalized.

Section 35 In a case where the expected duration of a safeguard measure exceeds three years, the Committee shall review the situation not later than the mid-term of the measure.

Section 36 When the Committee deems appropriate or when a petition is submitted by producers of like products or by related domestic industry within the period specified by the Ministry of Commerce, and that there is evidence that the domestic industry is adjusting, the effective period of the safeguard measure may be extended. However, the total period of application of a safeguard measure including the period of initial application, any extension thereof, and any provisional measure shall not exceed ten years. The provisions in Parts 2, 3, 5 and 6 of Chapters 2 and 3 shall be applied to the determination on the extended period of the safeguard measure mutatis mutandis.

Section 37 The safeguard measure extended under Section 36 shall not be more restrictive than the existing measure at the time of the extension request.

Section 38 In a case where the application of the safeguard measure has expired, no safeguard measure shall be applied again to the import of a product which has been subject to such a measure, unless a period of more than half of the duration of the application of the previous safeguard measure has elapsed, provided that such period is at least two years.

Any safeguard measure with a duration of 180 days or less may be applied again to the import of a product if at least one year has elapsed since the date of introduction of the measure, and if such as a safeguard measure has not been applied on the same product more than twice in the five year period immediately preceding the date of introduction of the measure.

Chapter 5

Impacts of Safeguard Measures

Section 39 In a case where the compensation agreement is required due to a safeguard measure has been applied or extended for more than three years, the Committee shall determine a compensation based upon their rights to maintain a substantially equivalent level of concessions and other obligations to that existing under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 with the approval of the Cabinet.

Chapter 6

Notification of the Determination

Section 40 When a final decision has been reached to terminate, impose or extend a safeguard measure, the Department of Foreign Trade shall promptly notify the decision and its relevant details to the public.

Notification of the Committee's final decision pursuant to the first paragraph shall be issued in accordance with the criteria, procedures, and conditions specified by the ministerial regulations.

Chapter 7
